

Let's Take a Stand

The numbers keep on rising and time just keeps reminding, that there is too much pain and so much more to gain, too many mums are crying, too many people hiding, the media stains our minds, coz this is real life

I sit and pray there will come a day when people stop the killing
The children cry, it hurts our eyes, but blood just keeps on spilling
Anger everywhere without a care these people keep on fighting
Fuelled by hate, the lives they take
To them it seems exciting

Chorus

Lets take a stand, open up your hands, free your mind, free your mind, free your mind come willing

Think of all their pain and you are to blame, tell me now, tell me now, tell me was it worth it

One man on his own, walking home alone, but now his family's weeping
Just the honest kind just like you and I but now he'll just be sleeping
The lives you change with your angry rage
Do you know the harm you're causing
Now go back a step imagine you were next and how you would be feel

Chorus

© Written by Lucia Cordaro

Produced by John Holt