

Pain Feels Like Comfort

I know it's not quite that
As easy as it seems
To forget about you
You're part of my dreams

Time's not forgotten and
The distance can not see
My pain feels like comfort
The more I want you, the more I bleed

Chorus
My pain feels like comfort
The more I want you I bleed
I wait for the thunder, but it's the lightening I see
My pain feels like comfort, the more I want you I bleed
My pain feels like comfort, the more I want you I bleed

The blind keep on walking
Although they can not see
And I keep ignoring
What's right in front of me

My broken heart has fallen
Right out of reach from me
So I will keep pretending
That you were not the one for me

Chorus
Bridge
Sometimes you keep on running
Although you'll only see
A broken heart won't heal
And pain will cloud your dreams
Sometimes you keep on looking
Although you'll only find
The one you love with all your heart was waiting all the time

© Written By Lucia Cordaro and Neil Preston